Our Visionary Founder

Mahatma Hans Raj (1864-1938)

Lala Hansraj (19 April 1864 – 14 November 1938) also known as Mahatama Hansraj, was an Indian educationist and a follower of Arya Samaj movement founder, Swami Dayanand. He founded, with Gurudatta Vidhyarthi, the Dayanand Anglo-Vedic Schools System (D.A.V.) in Lahore in 1886, where the first D.A.V. school was set up in memory of Dayanand who had died three years earlier.

He was also a compatriot of freedom fighter Lala Lajpat Rai. Hansraj served as the principal of D.A.V. College for 25 years, and committed the rest of his life in social service. Today D.A.V. runs over 669 colleges, schools, professional and technical institutions.

Hostels on the campus: Abode of Bliss

The revitalizing HVM hostels located in the college premises have always been a catalyst for students to embark upon successful voyages of their lives. The college hostels have a long trail of glory with alumni who have evolved into extraordinary personalities and won recognition in society for their success.

Three aesthetically designed on-campus hostels, Ojaswi (the brave), Kirti (fame) and Pragati (progress) are housed in lush green, secure, vibrant and biodiversity-wise rich campus of HVM. The Ojaswi block has 190 spacious and commodious rooms, Pragati has 39 and Kirti has 25 rooms. Each wing of the hostel has spacious verandahs and balconies. More than 700 students reside in the hostels on the campus. HVM hostels are most sought after destinations for accommodation as they are furnished with the latest amenities to provide the best possible stay and the best possible learning environment. HVM takes pains in keeping the hostels neat and clean. We strive to provide a favorable and affable ambience of concern, affection and mutual cooperation to make certain that the stay of each resident is relaxed, unforgettable and academically rewarding. We hope that the Hostel residents would join us in our efforts to create an environment, favourable for academic as well as creative pursuits by displaying a keen sense of discipline and decorum on the premises.
